PRESS COMMENTS.

"Of all the novels of 1890 not one deserves a higher place than 'The Gladiators'; hardly one, we may say, can compare with it. If we endeavor to compare it with other novels, we would place it on the same level with the best of Gen. Lew Wallace's work."—Public Opinion, Washington.

"It is altogether an admirably written book, showing a wide knowledge of his subject on the author's part, together with a strength of judgment and grace of expression which, unfortunately, are too seldom combined in what we are pleased to call the modern novel. * * * It is a treat to get hold of a book so thoroughly well worth reading."—America, Chicago.

"Clearly constructed and most interestingly written."—New Orleans Picayune.

"A book sure to secure the attention of the reader. * * * The characters of ancient history are shown to us with all the reality and vividness of modern life."—Boston Traveller.

"Cordially recommended."—Detroit News.

CHICAGO AND NEW YORK

EXPLANATORY.

The City is divided by the Chicago River into three distinct parts, which are known as the North, South, and West Divisions (popularly, North, South, and West "Sides"). State Street, Wabash Avenue, and Michigan Avenue are the main arteries to the South Division. North Clark and Wells streets are the main arteries to the North Division. Van Buren, Madison, Randolph, and Lake streets are the main arteries to the West Division.

To find the location or number of any house, turn to the name of the street. The streets in smaller type, noted underneath, are those that cross or run to it, and the numbers given are the corner numbers on each block of the street.

For example: To find 166 Adams Street, it will be seen that 157 is on the corner of La Salle, and 185 is on the corner of Fifth Avenue, hence 166 is between these two streets.

Where no number is given, the corners, and frequently the blocks, are vacant, or occupied by a manufactory or house not numbered.

The letters and figures following the names of streets in heavy black type are given to ascertain their location on the map. Take, for example, Aberdeen (W. D.), N-23.

On each side of the map are figures reading downward, and along the margin, top and bottom, are the letters of the alphabet, reading from left to right. N-23 refers to that point on the map where lines, if drawn from 23 to 23 east and west, and from N to N north and south, would intersect each other at right angles; Aberdeen would be found at such intersection.

The marginal figures in heavy type (thus: 10) refer to the nearest street car line. On pages v to xx will be found a list of all the city passenger car lines, routes, time tables, etc., each line being designated by a special number. If it is desired to know what car runs nearest to a given street number, find the street and number in the guide, and refer back from the marginal number to the corresponding number in the street railway list. For example, suppose it is desired to know what car to take in order to reach No. 190 Potomac Avenue:—Referring to the street number guide we find that 190 Potomac Avenue is located between Leavitt and Shober streets. On the margin we find also in heavy type, the number 4. Turning back we find the street car line directory, number 4, designating the West Division Railway Co.'s Division Street Line, which runs nearest the point in question.

BY

Prof. Walter R. Houghton, A. M., Prof. James K. Beck, A. B., Prof. James A. Woodburn, A. B., Prof. Horace R. Hoffman, A. B., Mrs. W. R. Houghton, and others.

The design of this work is to furnish ample and satisfactory information on all those subjects that are embraced under the word "Etiquette," to the end that the readers may have before them the best thoughts on the topics for consideration.

That the book might be prepared in the best manner, and free from the impress of one man's views, a number of writers have been selected, whose education and opportunities render them peculiarly fitted for treating the subjects on which they have written. In this way we are enabled to furnish the ladies and gentlemen of America with the most complete work on Etiquette that has yet been presented to the public, at a nominal price.

The following are the headings of the chapters, all of which are subdivided, treating on all subjects coming under each head :

The Value of Etiquette. Politeness and Good Manners. Social Intercourse. Home and Home Etiquette. Culture at Home. Entrance into Society. Introductions. Salutations and Greetings. Conversation. Table Etiquette. Street Etiquette. Traveling. Riding and Driving. Etiquette in Public Places. Etiquette of Calling. Etiquette of Visiting. Receptions, Parties, and Balls. Dinners. Washington Etiquette. Foreign Titles. Games. Sports and Amusements. Language of Flowers. Precious Stones. Toilet Recipes.

FABIAN DIMITRY

In Paper Covers, 25 Cents. Cloth, $1.00.

For Sale at all Booksellers' and News Stands.

PRESS NOTICES.

"Mr. Fawcett has told in 'Fabian Dimitry' a strange story, and told it well. * * * All the characters are strongly sketched, and they are managed with a degree of skill which makes the story interesting for much more than the plot."—New York Herald.

"'Fabian Dimitry' is a most artistic novel. Intense in its vitality, brilliant and profound in its intellectual scope, and rising to the sublimity of sacrifice in its ideal of love, it is, indeed, a novel strangely calculated to thrill the imagination and stimulate every exalted quality in human nature."—Boston Budget.

"'Fabian Dimitry,' by Edgar Fawcett, is one of the best novels from the pen of that excellent writer."—Kansas City Times.

"In 'Fabian Dimitry,' Edgar Fawcett has given us a character study of the most pronounced kind. Not only the chief persons of the story, but the lesser characters, represent well-known types of human development."—Boston Times.

"An unusual and original plot which Mr. Fawcett has developed in a manner that holds the interest of the reader from start to finish. * * * It is concise, direct, and striking."—America, Chicago.

"That there will be a wide demand for it, goes without saying."—Tidings, Buffalo.

"Mrs. Hauser has done a great deal to make Arnold's Poem duly impressive and understandable."—Interior, Chicago.

"'The Light of Asia' has just been published by Rand, McNally & Co., Chicago, in a luxurious form, with notes. This poem of Sir Edwin Arnold, which made its author's reputation, will be widely read in this edition. The typographical make-up is superb."—News, Philadelphia.

"These notes, which explain the meaning of terms not otherwise intelligible, add much to the interest of the reader. Mrs. Hauser's long residence in India has enabled her to illuminate many of those half hidden suggestions and local allusions the effect of which would otherwise be lost."—Advance, Chicago.
